

Unifi Ready for Its Close-Up

May 26, 2008

Atlanta – Unifi's Repreve fiber is about to make it to the big time.

The Discovery Channel selected the 100 percent–recycled polyester yarn as a feature for its television show How It's Made and plans to air an episode documenting the production of the fiber during season 12, which begins in January 2009. Unifi is the first U.S. textile mill to be featured on the show.

The How It's Made film crew visited Unifi's Yadkinville, N.C., manufacturing facility all day on April 4, taping the sustainability feature.
